Abstract: this article is written about the negative or positive influence of the mass media, especially the Internet, on the spiritual development of society, on the personality, especially on the worldview of young people, and on their ideological education. In today's time, when you can access the world's media space through mass media, the impartiality and correctness of information affects the image of countries in the international arena. In this respect, it is impossible to make a mistake in the information policy. It is very important to develop a mechanism to protect against various harmful information in the information space, especially when it comes to the mind and worldview of young people.

Keywords: mass media, internet, youth, media literacy, thinking, media space, education, information code, information policy.

Uzbekistan is starting the next stage of the national development of our country as it enters a new period of its development. We will carry out large-scale reforms based on the idea that "new Uzbekistan starts from the threshold of the school, from the educational system".

The wide-scale reforms being implemented are important in forming a healthy worldview of the young people of the new Uzbekistan. On the way to this goal, it is necessary to create ample opportunities for every young person to set great goals and achieve them, and to provide comprehensive support for society and the state. This shows the relevance of this issue, as it demands to be more responsible and not indifferent to the upbringing of the young generation.

In the Development Strategy of New Uzbekistan for 2022-2026, regularly publish articles on the country's achievements in the international media and in the international media space, regularly hold briefings, roundtables, conferences and seminars to promote the country's achievements to the general public, leading analytical institutes of the USA, establishment of cooperation with "think tanks", implementation of such tasks as periodic publication of detailed author's materials about Uzbekistan with foreign mass media that promote a positive image of Uzbekistan in the international arena.

In today's era, when it is possible to access the world's media space through mass media, the impartiality and correctness of information affects the image of countries in the international arena. In this respect, it is impossible to make a mistake in the information policy. Especially when it comes to the mind and worldview of young people, it is very important to develop a mechanism to protect against various harmful information in the information space. There is so much information flowing from the virtual space that not every young man or woman is able to distinguish which of them is useful, correct and which is malicious. For this reason, it is appropriate to include topics related to the content of information culture and media literacy in the relevant textbooks of the public education and professional education system.

Unfortunately, there are a lot of resources in the mass media, especially on the Internet, that have a negative impact on the spiritual development of the society, the worldview and ideological education of the individual, especially the younger generations who have not yet formed their minds.

A certain part of the materials of the online system is mainly biased, questionable in appearance, and encourages immorality, aggression and violence. The lack of specific legal and regulatory documents that can affect the information in computer systems makes it possible to freely post the ideas of nationalism, racism and fascism on the Internet, as well as pictures with obscenity and violence, and instructions on the preparation of narcotics and explosives.

Such attempts, which openly display nationalism, racism and vulgarity and violence on the Internet, require constant sensitivity and vigilance from all of us. It is becoming an urgent issue to conduct a thorough analysis of such negative situations, to strengthen the social activity of our citizens, to objectively illuminate the interests and aspirations of various social categories and groups, and to unite our citizens based on the idea of enlightenment against ignorance. After all, such negative situations encourage a person to give up responsibility and responsibility when he falls into a whirlpool of doubts and suspicions. As a result, he makes bad decisions; overidealizes technical means of decision-making.

The decrease in the value of specific knowledge, in contrast to its rapid obsolescence, leads to the need for the regular renewal and replenishment of "human property" and the formation of an informed culture. However, in order to trace the situation, a person needs to have a sufficient basis, this situation cannot be without a stable identification that allows a person to understand the meaning of his role and activity in society.

In such a situation, there is no doubt that the need for a positive and creative spirituality will increase, which will help young people to form a healthy lifestyle, determine their vital needs and aspirations.

Based on the scientific-theoretical analysis of the negative factors influencing these processes, the scientific-theoretical analysis of such situations as social inertia, alienation of the individual, deindividuation, and marginalization in the context of "individual" - "society" and "spirituality" in the context of "person" - "society" and "spirituality" in the context of the researched topic. serves to reveal more deeply.

"In this regard, Uzbekistan proposed to develop a generalized international legal document - the UN International Convention on the Rights of Youth - aimed at the formation and implementation of youth policy in today's conditions of rapid development of globalization and information and communication technologies." Many countries and international organizations are working on the issue of youth in order to comprehensively develop the thinking of more than two billion young people worldwide. "The UN will develop the "Youth in Politics Index" to monitor the opening of political space in the countries of the world. This process is a demand of the younger generation."

Where the political culture of the youth is not sufficiently formed, a political vacuum is created. This ultimately leads to the formation of foreign ideologies and views called "Mass culture", "Crowd culture" in the society. That's why we need to constantly work with young people, to create a culture of reading and a sense of commitment to this country, so that the desires and inclinations towards "mass culture" do not arise in the minds of young people. Only then can we save the youth who are the future of the country from the layer of "lost youth". In this regard, it is the moral duty of each of us to protect our youth from the influence of "mass culture" and "crowd culture" at a time when the "lost youth" layer has emerged and some countries do not know what to do.

In order to protect our youth from such vices, various threats, and the influence of foreign ideas, the upper chamber of the Oliy Majlis, i.e. the Senate, at the 23rd plenary session held on February 4, 2022, decided to create national content for young people and minors on the Internet, their use of social networks and their harmful use, decided to send a parliamentary request to the Cabinet of Ministers on protection from useless information.

For this reason, content that spreads obscenity, causes religious intolerance, various entertainment online games, totalizers, rejects family norms, and spreads harmful and immoral ideas in society and among citizens, which can greatly harm the minds of students, students, and especially unorganized youth. Being able to resist the sites is the most important task of every citizen.

According to the development strategy of New Uzbekistan for 2022-2026, national social networks and messengers will be created in our country by the end of 2022, and tax benefits will be given depending on the audience they have gathered. In addition, it is planned to develop the "Information Code" project in order to regulate the information sector by November of this year.

In conclusion, it can be said that although the positive influence of the information age of the 21st century on the formation of the political culture of young people has an impact, it should be noted that the information that contradicts our spirituality transmitted through some mass media and Internet networks has a negative effect on the spiritual consciousness of young people;

- it is urgent to research and analyze the external ideological influence of the mass media as a negative threat to the political culture of young people;
- Today, the process of globalization shows that the sphere of influence of mass media in the formation of personal political culture is increasing more and more.
